Giants Have Bases Full in the First Inning, but Lack the Wallops to Win Game

By W. O. McGeehan

'Cast a lot of young pitchers upon he waters and they will return after many days and kick you in the slats," mused John J. McGraw moodily at the Polo Grounds yesterday. This time it was Cecil Algernon Cansey who came back and handled the Giants somewhat roughly holding them to a 2 to 1 cere burling against Art Nehf, the expensive southpaw.

It came close to being a shut-out at hat. It might have been had not young Ralph Miller, the Honus Wagnerian third baseman of the Phillies, tried to some quick thinking and tried am-tiously for a double play. But the ct that Miller tried to think is not fact that Miller tried to think is not to be charged against his efficiency reports. Far from it.

It was the old story of the lost double-header. The Giants did not have the mule kick that they had when they were on the road, and the wallops that they needed nover came when they were needed. Once or twice it looked as though the old Giant tank corps might crash through, but the machine stopped with considerable abruptness. There was some fast fielding on both sides, but a dearth of the wallops that make the multitudes rear on their hind legs. About 20,000 saw the game. It looked as though the Giants were about to handle their former playmate, Cecil Algernon Causey, very roughly in the first inning, when they packed the bags on him with robody out, but only one lone run resulted.

Burns led the parade by beating out a single. Young was safe when Ralph Miller's long arms got wrapped around his legs. Fletcher laid down a slow ount just be ond the reach of Cecil Algernon and beat it to first.

Algerron and beat it to first. This made everything right for an explosion that would plaster the gummy fragments of the Phils against the slopes of Googan's Biuff. But the explosion did not come. Larry Doyle, who came through with a homer in the pinch on the previous day, struck out, kauff laid dowrs a hit to Ralph Miller, who touched third and then tried to louble Burns at the plate, but the attempted double cost a run. Burns beat the throw.

While Paulette was in the box meditating J. Dots Miller and Meusel started to manipulate the double steal. Smith threw to Doyle to get J. Dots, Larry made a ratner high return and Meusel slid home in a dust cloud.

Paulette bounced one down to center and J. Dots tried to score on it. But the throw from Kauff came on a line to the plate. Smith nailed it and een perpetrated during the cur-

There was plenty of fancy fielding in the early part of the game at that. Lawrence Doyle was the star performer in these acts. Faulette cracked one in the second that looked like a cinch. Larry shot over toward first, speared the ball with one hand and tossed the hall to first. Young impended the progress of J. Dots Miller in the same inning with a fine double

Veteran Quinn And Mays Set Back Red Sox

Babe's Clout Factor in the the First Victory, 4 to 3;

Second Is Easy, 8 to 3

From a Special Correspondent
BOSTON, May 29.—The Yankees who have begun their climb to the top of the pennant ladder in earnest, got nearer their destination this afternoon by taking a double-header from the Boston Red Sox. The scores were 4 to 3 and 8 to 3. The New Yorkers played splendidly in both contests in every department. In the first struggle Babe Ruth, who has been on a wild rampage the past week, helped them out mightily by poling his eleventh home run of the season over the left field fence, bringing home Meusel.

in the second set-to. They plastered Jones, of Boston, hard and viciously and won easily, thus giving Babe a chance to rest up for Monday. Jack Quinn did a very artistic hurling job Quinn did a very artistic hurling job for the Yanks in the opening struggle, and Carl Mays, whose reception by the Bostonians was anything but cordial, scored a victory in the closing game. One of the largest crowds of the season, 27,000 it was estimated, was on hand to watch the diamond warriors perform. In the first meeting they saw some fine pitching by Quinn and Bush, scintillating fielding by members of both nines and a close and exciting setto all the way. The second battle was featured mostly by hard hitting on the part of the New Yorkers.

The visitors didn't need Ruth's help

In the first game neither side scored until the fourth. Then both tallied, the Yanks twice and Boston once. On his first trip to the plate Ruth was quite tame, acting like any ordinary batter by knocking a grounder to Mc-Innis.

batter by knocking a grounder to Melanis.

After Peck had popped to Fester in the fourth, Meusel doubled to left for the first hit off Bush. Pipp fanned for the second time. Bush must have been beguiled by Ruth's efforts on his first trip and with two out, he decided to pitch to the big fellow. The Boston twirler wound up and shot one across the outside corner. But it was within reach, and Babe simly leaned out and nailed plumb on the seam, driving the sphere more than twenty feet over the left field fence. The bit was even longer than his blow over the same spot last Thursday. Pratt ended the inning by lofting to Menosky.

In their half the locals scored a run when Hendryx singled to left and advanced on McInnis's drive to right. Fast fielding by Ruth held Hendryx to second base. After Foster had struck out Scott drove a single past Meusel, filling the bases. Schang followed with a wallp that bounded off Quinn's glove, scoring Hendryx. Bush fanned with the bases filled, ending the inning.

In the next inning Bodie flied to Menosky, but Duffy Lewis beat out an infield hit. On the hit-and-run play Lewis took third as Hannah swung a smash to Scott and reached first when the Boston shortstop threw low to Melnnis. Quinn singled past second, scoring Lewis and sending Truck Hannah to second. The big fellow pulled the unexpected at this point by an attempt to steal third, but was nailed in the act. Peck walked, after which Meusel lifted a high foul near the sand, on which McInnis made a great one-hand catch.

Dodgers Take Pair of Games From Braves

Marquard Yields Three Hits in the First; Cadore Wins the Nightcap in the Tenth

By R. J. Kelly

After losing two straight games since their return from the West, the Dodgers came back strong yesterday and won both ends of a doubleheader from the Boston Brayes at Ebbets Field. They took the first tilt by the score of 7 to 1, but were forced to wait until the tenth inning to win the second by 5 to 4.

Manager Wilbert Robinson, who has been laid up with tonsilitis, appeared on the coaching lines for the first time in a week and received a big hand from the 24,000 rabid Flatbush rooters. Robbie's return seemed to put new life in his charges and they wer after the Braves determinedly, The Dodgers spotted the visitors to plate. Olson fumbled Pick's grounder and both runners were safe. Eayrs then forced out Powell at third Krueger to Johnston. Cruise hit as easy fly to Neis in right field, but the youngster dropped the ball, filling the bases. Holke struck out, but Boecket followed with a single to right, scoring Pick and Eayrs. Krueger then tried to pick Boeckel of first and Cruise stole home with the third rally.
